

Identifying Sterilized Animals

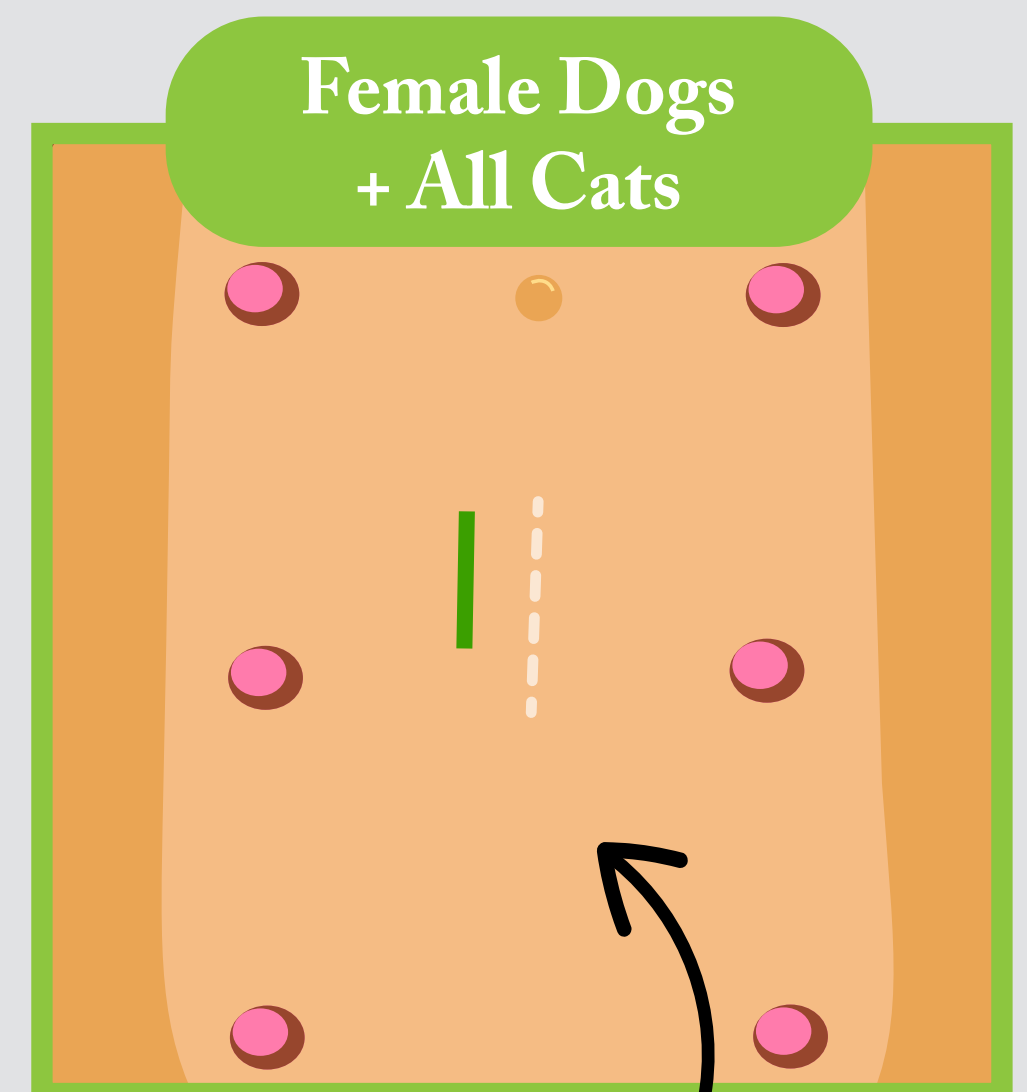

Tattoo Placement

All animals receive a linear green tattoo after their spay/neuter surgery to prevent unnecessary exploratory surgeries in the future. Green is not naturally occurring, so is therefore distinct.

Next to where pre-scrotal incision is (or would be)

Male Dogs

Female Dogs
+ All Cats

Next to where an abdominal spay incision is located (or would be located, as altered male cats can be mistaken for females)

A straight cut appears different than frostbite
or fight wounds

Ear-tipping

Community cats are also ear-tipped, which allows identification from a distance.